

Title: House of Gold
Author: Natasha Solomons
Genre: Historical fiction
Subject: Navigating the many challenges women face in society
Hook: Pressure to marry the man chosen for her and help to build the family's wealth
Reviewer's opinion: Solomons' writing flows as she brings you in deep
Personal recommendation: I couldn't put it down. Enjoy!

Reviewed by Emily Miller
TBI member

Do you love historical fiction?

Do you love strong women characters?

Do you have a certain fascination with the early 20th century?

Do you love a little romance?

Then, this is the book for you!

Greta Goldbaum is a force of nature. Born into a wealthy Jewish family in Vienna, the Goldbaum extended family dominates the financial world. (Yes, think Rothschilds). The family pressure to marry the man chosen for her and help to build the family's wealth is insurmountable. This book takes you on an adventure with Greta as she navigates the many challenges women face in society - social norms, family expectations, loss, lack of autonomy and control. You will fall in love with Greta as she finds her own path despite these many obstacles.

Solomons' writing flows from page to page as she brings you deep into a world of wealth, power, luxury, and politics. Simply put, I couldn't put it down. Enjoy!